HENRY CLAY EVANS

PASSES TO REST. Henry Clay Evans, one of Roswell's best citizens, died at nine o'clock last night at St. Mary's hospital, where he had been taken two weeks before for treatment for a complication of stomach trouble and rheumatism. For five weeks he has been a patient sufferer with racking pain, and his death came as a rest and relief to his tired spirit. He was 62 years old and had lived a life of usefulness.

The deceased was born October 15, 1844, at Evansville, Ark., which town was named for his father. At the age of eight years he went with his father's family to Gonzales county, Tex., and ever after that he claimed Texas as his native state, spending practically all his life there.

Mr. Evans was just out of college and seventeen years of age when the Civil War broke out. He promptly enlisted in his brother's company, the first to be raised in Gonzales county, and served with honor and bravery the entire four years of the struggle as a member of the Terry Rangers. He was wounded on one occasion so seriously that he was laid up several months, but re-entered the service as soon as possible, so soon, in fact, that he was hardly able to climb up to his saddle.

After the war Mr. Evans engaged in the cattle business and amassed quite a fortune. Later a greater portion of this fortune was swept away by the reverses that often came in those days to the western cattleman. Three years ago he came to Roswell, from Alva, O. T., where he had resided some time. Since his arrival in Roswell he has assisted his wife in conducting a boarding house at 314 N. Richardson avenue. He has made a host of friends here, all of whom deeply regret his death.

Besides the widow, the deceased leaves three sisters and one brother, one son and two daughters. His son, Clarence Evans, lives in Detroit, Mich. Mrs. W. C. Miller, of Medicine Lodge, Kan., and Mrs. Frank Priestly, of Gonzales, Tex., are the daughters. These relatives have been telegraphed, but it is not known whether any of them can come. Mr. Evans also was a brother-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Littlefield, of this city.

Mr. Evans was a member of the Episcopal church and of the L. O. O. F. While he had never joined Valverde Camp U. C. V., he was thoroughly in sympathy with the organization. Furthermore, he was a splendid citizen and a good man.

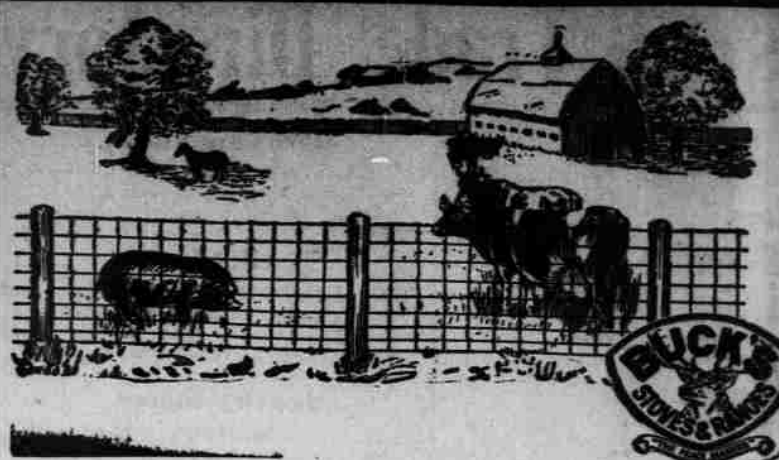

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock from the home. Rev. Edwin Emerson Davis will conduct the service and the Odd Fellows will be in charge of the burial.
